VILLA ZURICH

GO INTERIORS
ZURICH, SWITZERLAND

Go Interiors was the interior design company commissioned to design the entire interior concept, including this spa, in a villa built by Meier Architekten. The country house-style three-story villa demonstrates both classic and modern elements in the spa area, displaying a striking elegance perfectly suited to this cozy private space. Access to the spa is provided via an entrance area illuminated by a decorative lighting element. This tranquil oasis offers views across the garden and the lake that lies adjacent to the villa. Chains of glass spheres not only serve as a striking decorative element, they also diffract the artificial light.

A tunnel leads into the spa area, where a piece of furniture with a copper basin is located, designed by the client himself. To the right of this, the room opens out to the sauna and wellness shower, and to the left the steam bath and toilets. The rooms are darker in this area and artificial lights have been cleverly integrated to create the perfect atmosphere and make the haptic of the surfaces more tangible.

Completion: 2016. Project architects: Meier Architekten.
Material: parquet flooring, different kinds of stone, oil slate stone, copper. Gross floor area: 650 m² (villa).

VILLA RAPPERSWIL

GO INTERIORS
RAPPERSWIL, SWITZERLAND

A meditative courtyard with a pool and offering views of Lake Zurich forms the core of this villa, built by Kaufmann Architekten. The interior architecture by Go Interiors – who were involved in the project right from the beginning – emphasizes the beauty of the courtyard by blurring the boundaries between the interior and exterior areas. Different atmospheres have been developed throughout the property; such as a stylish and warm guest bathroom and the elegant and generously proportioned master bathroom. A modern training and wellness area boasts direct access to the interior courtyard.

The client has an affinity for technology and this, combined with his demands for highly esthetic rooms that are characterized not only by their functionality, but also their striking sensuality, enrich the interior design. The tailor-made lighting system harmonizes with the modern stylish elements and offers a perfect solution whatever the occasion.

Completion: 2018. Project architects: Kaufmann Architekten. Material: parquet flooring, different kinds of stone, wood, brass plates, mosaic, handblown glass, Swarovski lead glass. Gross floor area: 550 m² (villa).
